

Existing Employee Sales Growth Program

Advanced client communication, objection handling, cross-product thinking, and reflective sales growth

2.5-hour facilitated workshop

For 1-3 year sales employees

Why This Program Exists

Move from uneven sales habits to a shared company standard.

Current challenge

Existing sales employees already know the basics, but sales maturity varies across product teams. Some rely on team-specific habits, product pitching, or personal style.

The program standardizes the behaviors that improve client trust and sales quality.

Business goal

Reduce capability differences and strengthen company-level sales standards without replacing product-line expertise.

Focus on practical behaviors: discovery, objection handling, cross-product judgment, and reflection.

Learner value

Training only earns attention if it helps employees sell better, communicate more responsibly, and grow inside the company.

Every section produces a usable tool or workplace action.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this workshop, learners will be able to...

1 Analyze client conversations using a sales maturity lens

2 Use stronger discovery questions to clarify client goals and barriers

3 Handle objections with compliant, client-centered responses

4 Identify when cross-product thinking or referral is appropriate

5 Review a sales case and extract reusable learning

6 Draft a 30-day personal sales growth plan

From Basic Execution to Sales Maturity

The shift is from product pitching to client-centered sales judgment.

Follows process
but may pitch early

Basic Execution

STRATEGIC CONVERSATIONS.
STRONGER RELATIONSHIPS. BETTER OUTCOMES.

Adapts conversation to client needs

Skilled Application

Connects product,
risk, timing, and trust

Strategic Client Advisor

Sales Maturity Model

Three behavior levels for existing sales employees.

Level	Behavior Pattern	Example
Basic Execution	Follows process, but often pitches too early	Explains product features before learning client concerns
Skilled Application	Adapts conversation to client needs	Asks discovery questions and explains product logic clearly
Strategic Client Advisor	Builds trust and connects product, risk, and timing	Helps client clarify goals and choose a responsible next step

The G.R.O.W. Sales Conversation Cycle

A simple structure for higher-quality client conversations.

Deepen Client Discovery

Stalled sales conversations often begin with weak discovery.

Client Goal

What are you trying to achieve or avoid?

Market View

Which European market factors are you watching?

Risk Comfort

What type of downside would be uncomfortable?

Decision Process

What do you need before choosing a next step?

Better discovery reduces pressure and improves product fit.

Activity: Rewrite the Question

Turn shallow questions into discovery questions.

Weak question

Stronger discovery question

Are you interested?

What are you hoping this exposure would help you achieve?

Can you accept risk?

What type of volatility or downside would make you uncomfortable?

Can you decide today?

What would you need to understand before deciding on a next step?

Pair task: rewrite one weak question from your own sales conversations.