

RailCore Growth Pathway Program

Leader Track: Individual Development Planning as a Strategic Talent Tool

Stronger Teams. Safer Tracks. Better Journeys.

Why We Are Here

Inquiry

Make employee growth more visible
Support stronger development conversations
Build future-ready talent
Reinforce manager and employee accountability

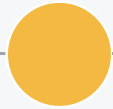

How We Will Learn Today

Inquiry

Ask

Start with real talent questions

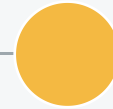

Surface

Identify current challenges and risks

Connect

Link challenges to IDP practices

Apply

Create leadership actions and follow-up plans

Opening Question

Inquiry

What happens when employee development is left to chance?

Think about impacts on employees, managers, teams, customers, operations, and business performance.

Start with the Talent Challenge

Inquiry

What talent-management challenges are we trying to solve?

Before we discuss IDPs, we clarify the business and people problems first.

Common Talent Challenges

Inquiry

- Retention risk
- Skill and capability gaps
- Succession readiness
- Inconsistent manager coaching
- Low career visibility
- Limited internal mobility
- Engagement and motivation concerns

Activity: Talent Challenge Mapping

Inquiry

Activity • 12 min

In small groups, discuss:

What talent challenge is most visible in your area?

What happens if we do not address it?

Who is affected: employees, managers, teams, customers, operations, or business results?

What Talent Risks Are Showing Up?

Inquiry

Priority challenge
Business or people impact
Why it matters now

IDPs as a Strategic Talent Tool

Inquiry

- Clear goals
- Practical actions
- Documented support
- Follow-up commitments
- Visibility for leaders

What IDPs Make Possible

Journey

Organizational Need	How IDPs Help
Visibility	Make goals, skills, and gaps easier to see
Consistency	Provide a common development process
Accountability	Document actions and follow-up
Retention	Show employees that growth is intentional
Capability Building	Link development to role and business needs
Succession Readiness	Build future talent pipelines